DORCHESTER'S Shire Hall, pictured above, could be transformed into a visitor centre – after winning Lottery funding.

The Heritage Lottery Fund (HLF) has given its initial support towards a project which should see the Grade I listed building transformed into a visitor centre with high quality exhibitions and educational resources.

Many will be centred around the six Tolpuddle Martyrs who were tried in the building in 1834 and sentenced to seven years transportation for forming an illegal trade union.

West Dorset District Council bid for the funding last year to help attract more visitors to the area as part of a proposed heritage quarter for the town.

Author Thomas Hardy also sat in the court building as a magistrate. The room appears today almost as it did in Georgian times.

"I am thrilled that we have succeeded in winning this money from the Heritage Lottery Fund. This is on top of the £1million that the district council has pledged to make this exciting project a reality," said council leader Robert Gould.

SPECIAL HISTORY

"The Shire Hall is a fascinating building with a unique and special history. Visitors will be able to tread in the footsteps of the Tolpuddle Martyrs and see the very same sights that would have greeted them.

"Thanks to this money and the hard work of everyone involved we should be able to make history come alive and create something Dorchester can be proud of."

Part of HLF's initial support includes development funding totalling £69,000. This will be used to develop detailed design plans and to get the project to the planning application stage. After this work is completed a second round funding application will be made to the Heritage Lottery Fund to apply for the full amount needed for the scheme.

Richard Bellamy, Head of Heritage Lottery Fund South West, said: "We are delighted to be able to support the development of this project. Shire Hall is LYME fishmonger Simon Bennett - or Si The Fish as he's locally known - has become a popular fixture of the town since he opened The Old Watch House fresh fish place at The Cobb. His many customers include top chefs Mark Hix, Clarissa Dickson-Wright and Hugh Fearnley-Whittingstall and his shop has featured on BBC, ITV and Channel 4 programmes.

■ HOW long have you been in the fishmongering business?

I started at the age of 18, working in my Dad's shop in Christchurch, Dorset. So I've been a fishmonger for 21 years - blimey!

■ HOW did you and your family come to live in Lyme?

I was working on another of my father's stalls in Dorchester High Street and a good customer - Sarah Wilkinson, the daughter Victor Homyer, Lyme's fishmonger since 1934 - came up and asked us if we'd take over the shop in Lyme as her father wanted to retire. So we took on The Old Watch House and after a week in the town I met Jo, now my wife. Our first romantic chat was during a walk around The Cobb - very French Lieutenant's Woman!

■ IS fish difficult to cook and what is your favourite easy fish dish?

The golden rule with nearly every fish, so long as it's been cleaned, is you can wrap it in tin foil with lemon, butter and a drop of white wine and bake it for 20 minutes on 180 degrees gas mark 4.

That is a general rule but it really works well with any flat fish. Lemon sole or brill would be particularly fine this way - you could ruin the taste of the fish by dabbling with other stronger flavourings.

It's difficult to say which recipe would be my favourite as we cook this way seasonally with all sorts of fish, depending on what's in season. But I never get bored of trying something new that a customer may have recommended.

Raw wriggling scallops straight from the shell give me a lift. There's more zinc in them than oysters.

■ WE'VE recently read that some say mackerel is unsustainable - what's the true story on this?

That confusing media sound bite a month ago was put out by the Marine Conservation Society.

It was confusing because they clearly state on their own website that south west line-caught mackerel is the most sustainable way of buying this fish which is famed for its omega content. The sound bite was regarding North Sea/Icelandic stocks and wasn't even related to an actual diminishing of fish, just the amount of quota set between Icelandic and Scottish fleets.

On the whole a very confusing load of almost-foreign nonsense has been said recently but the golden rule is: if it's been caught on a hand-line then it's sustainable. Which is good news for Lyme as the fantastic omega-packed beauties are traditionally available locally.

■ WHERE can I get the best advice on what fish to eat and how to prepare it?

All my staff (with the probable exception of Geoff, our zany apprentice) can offer excellent advice of what fish to choose and how to cook it in all three of our outlets (Lyme, Ottery and Exeter High Street). We don't just wear white coats for our Saturday shifts.

■ WILL you be taking part in the Mackerel and Crab festivals planned for Lyme this summer? And what's this we hear that you've invented a new sport of mackerel tossing?

The Great Dorset Mackerel Toss could become something quite big but I don't want to be specific here yet. Let's just say it's very original and a TV programme have already said they'd be interested in filming it. It'll be a great festival season for fish in Lyme this year.

There are actually three different seafood-related festivals planned, and my team and I are working with Mark Hix on all of them, especially the Food Rocks event for the first weekend in September.

■ WHAT advice would you give local shoppers who want to eat more fish because they hear it's good for them?

It's really all about where the fish is from. Processed fish has been fiddled with in a factory. If you buy local you have the reassurance that it's fresh, unprocessed and natural. And because of the variety of Omega oils in fish, it's good for your heart, your mind, memory and blood circulation. Fish will keep you chipper.

■ WHAT'S your favourite time of the year in Lyme and why's that?

Autumn - after the madness of the season.

■ WHAT are your leisure pursuits?

I'm a lifelong golfer and at nights I get my telescope out to indulge my study of astronomy. But my best thing to do on a day-off is to be with my children, Sam and Rosie.

■ WHAT would you change about Lyme if you could?

Car parking. I'd build either an overground and doubtless controversial multi-storey by Monmouth beach or an underground one in the same place!

■ IF you were planning a dinner party for six people, who would be your perfect guests and what dish would you cook?

The new Pope and five of his cardinals. I'd cook Monkfish and we could talk all evening about the meaning of Cod.

Solicitors claim NHS 'dragging its feet' over care fee refunds

A DORSET law firm has warned of what it describes as an "alarming" NHS backlog in the processing of care fee refunds. Batters Solicitors say the delay follows a government deadline for reclaiming the costs of healthcare that should have been state funded.

An initial deadline of the end of September 2012 prompted individuals and families to contact the firm for help.

Batters submitted the first of a number of refund applications to the NHS more than a year ago but as of now none have had a substantive response, let alone a payout.

Such is the scale of frustration with the application process, the firm is preparing a formal complaint to the Health Ombudsman.

David Arnold, a solicitor in Batters' Dispute Resolution department said: "I expected it to be a long process, months rather than weeks, but I am still surprised that not a single one of our applications seems to be anywhere near being settled. We have people who have been waiting who still have not had a substantive response, just a brief acknowledgement and then an apology for the delay when we follow up. It is alarming for people and causing real distress and that is why we are raising the issue with the Ombudsman who is an impartial third party."

Ministers announced early last year that individuals and their families are entitled to a refund if they have paid for care at any time since April 2004 but the recipient is now deemed to have been eligible at the time for what is known as 'continuing healthcare'.

This is free, non-means-tested care funded by the NHS for health rather than social care needs. It is usually provided in a residential or nursing home, but could equally be in a person's own home.

Retrospective claims for periods of care up to 31 March 2011 had to be submitted by the end of September 2012.

A further deadline, for care between 1 April 2011 and 31 March 2012, has been set for 31 March 2013.

Mr Arnold added: "We have extensive experience in fighting successful claims for the refund of care fees, securing thousands of pounds for clients, including in one case, more than £100,000, but it does seem that the NHS has been dragging its feet on claims made since the September 2012 deadline was set. It may be a pure resources issue but if we, with all our professional skills and ability to keep going, are seeing a backlog, one wonders what it is like for individuals without legal help. Our applications will be just a fraction of the overall claims to be processed. If our experience is typical, the national picture must be bleak indeed."

Council may borrow funds for Corn Exchange

TOWN councillors may have to borrow £80,000 to cover the cost of repairs to Dorchester's Corn Exchange.

If they do the money will come from the Public Works Loan Board and repaid over a ten year period at 2.02 per cent interest.

But councillors are considering a second option, of funding the work from the authority's General Fund which has improved its balances by a predicted £132,000; £73,000 more than the predicted surplus of £58,000.

In a report from accountancy officer Marc Goodman councillors are being told that the town council, as at April 1st, will have a total outstanding long term debt of £614,000. If the loan option is taken this will increase to £694,000.

Hirers fail to pay fees

LEGAL action is being considered by Dorchester Town Council after it failed to collect payments from several hirers of the municipal buildings.

The largest outstanding payment is over £2,200, with another of almost £1,000, although a report notes that the smaller sum is likely to be paid and appears to have arisen "as a result of confusion on the part of a regular hirer."

Neither of the debtors are named and the issue was discussed behind closed doors by town councillors this week.

Race for life call

ORGANISERS of Dorchester's Race for Life event at Kingston Maurward are calling for more women to sign up.

The May 19th event will raise funds for Cancer Research UK.

They say that, so far, 384 have signed up for the event.

Further information is available online at - www.raceforlife.org or by calling 0845 6006050.

Change in how district council is run?

■ GIVEN the apparent reluctance of West Dorset District Council (WDDC) to issue a press release on the subject, I write to draw your readers' attention to the discussions, currently underway among councillors, on the future system of governance for the district.

I do this now as I am aware that two very expensive and contentious decisions have been made in recent years under the current "cabinet" system of governance.

Firstly the £15million project creating new offices for WDDC and a new Dorchester library and adult education centre and, secondly, the late addition to the new local plan of the Came View site to the south east of Dorchester for a possible 1,000 new homes.

WDDC's current system of governance is one in which all major decisions (including the two referred to above) are made by the seven person Executive Committee (often referred to as "the cabinet").

Members of this are chosen by the leader and are all drawn from the majority party (Conservative).

Although cabinet decisions are scrutinised by two committees made up of members from different political groups (Conservative - eight; Liberal Democrat - three; West Dorset Independent - one) this check on the executive is of very limited value in a council where party whipping plays a significant role.

Occasionally, in one of the few (five per year) full council meetings, a "recommendation" from the cabinet may be debated by all 48 councillors before being put to the vote.

There can be little doubt that this system leads directly to a very significant democratic deficit with the views of many councillors playing no part at all in decisions on major issues.

It may not remain like this. Councillors are now discussing alternatives to the leader and cabinet system including reverting to the committee structure.

This system, allowing as it does a much broader and more representative debate on major issues, could well lead to better decision-making.

Your readers may like to find out for themselves which system their elected representatives favour and, more importantly, why they believe it to be in the best interests of the voters of West Dorset.

■ OUTGOING MAYOR Andy Canning and son James at the beacon lighting. One of the highlights of the mayoral year

New mayor chosen

DORCHESTER Town Councillors met behind closed doors this week to choose the town's next Mayor.

The position will become vacant when the current holder, Andy Canning, reaches the end of his year in April.

Mr Canning, partner Mel Lane, and son, James, who has taken the place of his mother when she was not available, have attended dozens of events run by community organisations during the year.

Their first official duty of the year was to open the town's Lidl store with other events including the town festival, Olympic torch relay and lighting of the beacon to celebrate the Queen's Jubilee.

Other items being considered by the Mayoral Selection Committee included a new form for town organisations to invite next year's mayor to events.

one of Dorchester's most important historic buildings and this project has the potential to open it fully to the public and explain its fascinating history in an exciting and vibrant way."

Under the plans, the new heritage centre could be run by the Dorset County Museum. Local people will be asked for their views. Consultations are also ongoing with other interested groups including the Trade Union Congress. The project could also see Dorchester's award winning Tourist Information Centre move to Shire Hall.

The district council has owned Shire Hall in High West Street since 1974.

Bid to encourage more holidaymakers in Dorset

THE VISIT Dorset tourism partnership is working with VisitEngland, the national tourist board, to promote Dorset and encourage more people to holiday at home and discover the best that England has to offer.

The £41.9 million, three-year project called 'Growing Tourism Locally', is funded by the government's Regional Growth Fund, with contributions from VisitEngland and destination partners from around the country.

The Visit Dorset partnership, which includes district and borough councils from across the county, is taking part in three campaigns:

Coastal Escapes, Rural Escapes, and the English Seaside.

Dorset will feature in a range of national media including network radio stations Classic FM and Gold FM, The Guardian and Mail on Sunday.

There is also a substantial programme of digital and social media activity, including Facebook competitions and dedicated Dorset pages on visitengland.com.

The campaigns aim to inspire UK residents to experience England's world-famous coastline, inspiring landscapes, historic market towns, picturesque villages and fantastic seaside destinations.

Leader of West Dorset District Council, Robert Gould said: "We are pleased that the Visit Dorset partnership has been able to support VisitEngland's high profile national campaigns.

"This has provided an exciting opportunity to showcase Dorset as a leading UK holiday destination.

"Dorset has so much to offer: beautiful beaches, a wide range of attractions, stunning countryside, and the world-famous Jurassic coastline.

"We are looking forward to welcoming many more visitors to the area to support our tourism industry on the back of these campaigns."

Man jailed for sex offences may have sought local victims

DETECTIVES in Dorset are urging victims to come forward after a street entertainer was sentenced to seven years' imprisonment for rape and assault.

Steven Beeks, a 50-year-old man, of no fixed abode, was found guilty by a jury at Caernarfon Crown Court in Wales on February 14th.

Beeks worked as a street performer within Weymouth during the summer and autumn of 2011.

His convictions relate to offences that took place outside of Dorset.

Detective Constable Steve Dodge, of Weymouth CID, said: "I am taking the unusual step of releasing Steven Beeks' image into the public domain in the belief that there may be other victims of crime that have yet to be identified by investigators.

"Beeks has travelled extensively throughout the country. He has been of no fixed abode for a number of years and has earned casual income as a silver living statue street performer.

"Beeks used an alias of 'Silver Steve' and we know he was living in the Weymouth area in the summer and autumn of 2011.

"I would encourage anyone who has concerns regarding Steven Beeks to contact Dorset Police on 101 - we treat all such calls very seriously and specialist staff are on hand to provide support."

Alec Hodgson, 31, has organised a bowls day, charity auction and ghost walks, amongst other events, to raise money for the charity.

He is also launching a support group locally for younger people with epilepsy.

Alec travelled to Leeds to receive his award where the charity's chief executive, Philip Lee said: "Alec has shown great passion and creativity in the ways in which he has promoted public information and awareness of epilepsy."

Receiving the award, Alec said: "I am thrilled to accept this award from Epilepsy Action. Knowing my volunteering has played a part in improving the lives of other young people affected by epilepsy in Dorset and the South West is really rewarding."

Epilepsy Action's volunteer awards aim to recognise the outstanding support given to the charity by its volunteers nationwide. A total of 12 awards were presented across eight categories.

Epilepsy affects around one in every 100 people in the UK alone and 87 people are diagnosed with the condition every day.

Last year Epilepsy Action directly helped over 1.1 million people through a range of services, including its Epilepsy Helpline freephone 0808 800 5050, branch network, specialist nurse scheme and award-winning website, www.epilepsy.org.uk

Doing something funny for money

A POUNDBURY business, neighbours and friends raised hundreds of pounds for Comic Relief on Friday with a bake sale.

Sue McCarthy-Moore entered into the spirit of the day by also decorating her Stitchinghouse Design business in Pummary Square with Red Noses.

Sue and friends baked and then sold the produce raising over £400 by lunchtime.

"People really entered into the spirit of it, soon after we opened there were loads of people here, buying cakes and bringing them in to sell," she said.

HOSPITAL Radio presenters at Dorset County Hospital did something funny for money on Red Nose Day.

Jim Davis and Heather Foster presented three hours of comedy in the company of Oliver Bear and Cuthbert Snake. The show was followed up by Ridgeway Radio's youngest presenter, Dom, who played two hours of records with Red in the title. Producer mum, Jo, told the jokes and fed him red nose biscuits.

Requests for patients can be rung in on 01305 254227 or by visiting www.ridgewayradio.org.uk.

RED Nose antics at Thomas Hardy School raised hundreds of pounds for Comic Relief.

Students baked cakes and sold them, and wore onesies to class with some taking part in a water obstacle race.

Student president Rory Newbery said: "So far we've counted around £340 and we are waiting for some money from our other projects to come in. The CACHE (a diploma programme) students also raised £200 in a giant cake sale on Wednesday.

"The swimming competition was nothing like anything we've ever done before (we were a bit out of our depth!)"

"We had five teams of sixth formers who had to take part in a variety of different rounds; from team relays to the grand finale, where the top three teams performed their version of the 'Harlem Shake', a dance which has gone viral on social networking sites.

"This was the current student union team's last big event before the Leavers' Ball and was great fun. We'd really like to thank Dorchester Leisure Centre for letting us use their facilities - they've been fantastic."

Other antics included a cream pie fight with staff, residents and pupils from the Grove Pre-School at Maiden Castle House care home.

Elsewhere in the town Manor Park First School pupils held a 'pick a teacher's Red Nose' day and at Castle View Care Home staff took turns over a 12-hour period on a static exercise bicycle - averaging almost 20mph throughout the day.

Are teenagers different?

MANY parents might believe that teenagers are a species different from the rest of humanity – but are they?

Popular science writer and biologist Professor David Bainbridge will be examining the idea that there really is something different about teenagers at the next Thomas Hardy Community Lecture on Monday, March 25th.

The talk, which is free, is being held in memory of the late Clinton Grassby, a local Rotarian.

Tickets are available now from the school office.

Professor Bainbridge's talk, "Teenagers: A Natural History", will start at 7pm.

He is currently based at the University of Cambridge. His main field of research has been the interactions between foetus and mother in humans and animals. His books include 'Making Babies - The science of pregnancy', 'The X in Sex - How the X chromosome controls our lives', 'Beyond the Zonules of Zinn - A fantastic journey through your brain', and 'Teenagers: A Natural History'. His fifth book, 'Middle Age: A Natural History' was published in March 2012.

Reciting poetry

STUDENTS from across Dorset have been taking part in a new national poetry recitation competition, Poetry by Heart, at County Hall, Dorchester this week.

The poems of John Donne, Lord Byron and Sylvia Plath were among those included in an anthology and the students, aged between 14 and 18, were competing to be the champion for their skill in memorising and performing poems.

The county wide competition is hosted by Dorset Library Service and was judged by Paul Hyland, Dorset poet and writer; Sara Biggs, young people's representative and Sharon Kirkpatrick, Senior Manager Reading and Learning for Dorset Library Service.

The anthology contains 130 pre-1914 and post-1914 poems selected by poets Sir Andrew Motion and Jean Sprackland

The winners of the county contest will be invited to a finals weekend in April at the National Portrait Gallery in London.

Keeping fit with Dorchester Lions

DORCHESTER YMCA Gym Club members have a spring in their step – thanks to Dorchester Lions who have paid for a 'Top Tumbler'.

Dorchester and District Lions donated £500 for the piece of equipment, which can be used by children of all abilities and abilities.

It combines a handspring trainer and vault and will be used by all members of the club, who say it is especially appropriate for the disabled section where its design can support the weight of the user and minimise injuries to coaches and trainers.

This £500 donation is one of four equal amounts that the Dorchester Lions have made to the main beneficiaries of their recent Swimathon held at the newly-opened Dorchester Sports Centre.

The other three beneficiaries are Riding for the Disabled, the Warriors Swimming Club and the Dorchester Athletic Club. All these clubs provide sporting and coaching opportunities for local, young disabled people – and the Lions are keen to perpetuate the Paralympic legacy from the summer of 2012.

● THE Dorchester Lions are now busily preparing for their forthcoming Annual Fun Run on Sunday, March 24th, which starts at the Dorchester Middle School, Coburg Road, Dorchester with registration from 0915.

This is 31st year for the event and in that time over £200,000 has been raised for local good causes. The Fun Run's very own 'Flying Nun' Sister Augustine will be taking part again this year. She has been attending the event for over 20 years and in that time she has personally raised over £20,000 for local good causes, especially for Poverty Action, Dorchester.

Full details of the run is available of the Lions website www.lions-dorchester.org.uk or entry can be achieved by picking up forms from the Dorchester Sports Centre or the Dorchester Tourist Information shop.

Sponsored runners and walkers of all ages and abilities are welcome to participate in one of three routes – either safe one or two-mile routes within Dorchester or a timed 10K for the more adventurous, which takes in the sights of Maiden Castle.

The main beneficiaries from the forthcoming Fun Run will be the young people in the community – so the club wants to hear from different clubs or organisations that provide opportunities or assistance to youth in our community. They can contact the club through the website or telephone 0845 833 2836.

Hospital opts out of regional pay consortium

THE Dorset County Hospital Foundation Trust has pulled out of the regional pay consortium and says it will stay with nationally negotiated pay and conditions.

The move has been welcomed by Unison which represents many hospital workers.

Joanne Kaye, UNISON Regional Secretary, said: "This is great news for our members and shows the success of UNISON's on-going campaign against regional and postcode pay.

"These are exceptionally difficult times, but with the threat of regional pay no longer hanging over members' heads, UNISON looks forward to working with the Trust to face up to the challenges they are facing as a result of the Coalition Government's Austerity policies.

"We applaud this move by Dorset County Hospital Foundation Trust, which follows hard on the heels of a similar announcement by Northern Devon Healthcare NHS Trust, and call on the other seventeen Trusts still in the Pay Consortium to follow their lead."

■ DEMO outside Dorchester County Hospital against the pay consortium last year

Helen Eccles, UNISON Regional Organiser, said: "Locally, members are delighted that the shadow of local pay has been lifted so they can get on with doing their jobs looking after patients."

● A 49-year-old London man has been arrested and will appear in court after nursing staff were injured at Dorset County Hospital.

Police responded to emergency calls on February 24th and made the arrest after being told that a man was behaving aggressively to staff and was swinging a medical drip around.

Two hospital staff, both women in their early 40s, were treated for minor injuries – one to an arm and the other to her neck.

The man police arrested was also questioned about damage to two fire exit doors and a towel dispenser.

A hospital spokesperson said they were proud of the way staff responded to the situation.

Skatepark closed for new surface

YOUNGSTERS who use Dorchester's ever-popular skatepark, provided by Dorchester Town Council, have had to stop their activities for a while as work continues to improve the surroundings.

The park, opposite Maumbury Rings, has been so well used that youngsters have worn out the grass which used to surround the ramps.

Work is now underway to replace the grass with artificial turf, paid for from a fund administered by West Dorset District Council, which has built up from contributions from developers.

The work is expected to be finished in time for the school Easter break.

Other Dorchester projects to benefit from the fund include new allotments at Herrington Road and a zip wire and trampoline at a Dorchester play area as well as converting the disused bowls pavilion in the Borough Gardens into public toilets.

Rare mirror goes on show

A RARE mirror, bought by the County Museum following an appeal, is to go on public show for the first time at Easter.

The Chesil Mirror was bought for £23,000 after receiving two £9,750 grants from the Headley Trust, a Sainsbury Family Charitable Foundation and the V & A Purchase Fund, which is supported by the Department for Culture, Media and Sport to enable museums to purchase objects of cultural importance.

An additional £3,500 was raised in a Dorset County Museum fundraising campaign which included £1,000 from a lecture by Professor Andrew Fitzpatrick of Wessex Archaeology in November 2012.

The copper-alloy mirror was discovered between Abbotsbury and Chickerell in 2010. Dating back to the late Iron Age it is similar to the Portesham Mirror currently in the museum's possession.

This type of mirror is extremely rare – fewer than 30 have ever been discovered in the UK.

The Chesil Mirror was found in a grave dating

by Trevor Bevens
trevorbevins@gmail.com

back to the Roman Conquest. The body was buried in a characteristic crouched position and the grave also contained two brooches, an armlet, copper tweezers, coins and some glass beads.

The burial mound was thought to be for a 17 to 25-year-old woman who died shortly after the Roman invasion in AD 43. The grave was found by a metal-detector user. When he reported the discovery Bournemouth University promptly undertook an excavation to make sure that the find was carefully lifted and fully recorded.

Dr Miles Russell, Senior Lecturer in Prehistoric and Roman Archaeology, Bournemouth University said: "Although damaged, this is one of the finest pieces of Celtic Art yet recovered from the British Isles, the reverse of the bronze mirror being covered with an incredibly intricate pattern of carefully incised, swirling abstract loops. Created over 2,000 years ago, this highly personal artefact would undoubtedly have been the prized possession of a wealthy native aristocrat who lived long enough to see the Roman army invade and occupy her homeland."

"The discovery, excavation, recording and reporting of the find was a model co-operation between the metal detectorist who first made the find, the landowner and archaeologists from both Dorset County Council and Bournemouth University and was acknowledged as such in the bi-annual Dorset Archaeological awards of 2011."

In August 2011 the mirror and other items were declared Treasure and in April 2012 the Secretary of State set its price at £23,000.

Jon Murden, director of Dorset County Museum at the time of the appeal, said: "This mirror is very important to us because it is closely connected with the one we acquired in 1994 and is decorated in a similar way. These rare and fascinating objects are significant because they tell us so much about power and wealth in Iron Age Dorset."

"We hope this appeal will encourage local people to support us so that we can buy the mirror and give it pride of place in our Archaeology Gallery."

Art in the museum

■ IMAGE by Chris Miller from the Wessex Contemporary Arts exhibition

ARTISTS taking part in an exhibition in the County Museum will be leading workshops and talking about their creations.

The artists, all from Wessex Contemporary Arts, will be at the museum to talk about their work between 10.30am and 12 noon on April 4th and 11th.

Several of the artists are also running workshops to encourage engagement with the processes and concepts at the heart of contemporary art. The next of these, an experimental drawing encounter with artists Jindra Jehu and Louise Roll, takes place at the museum on Saturday, March 30th between 10.30am and noon. This costs £3 per person, it is suitable for all ages and there is no need to book.

On Saturday April 27th Bill Crumblholme is holding a workshop for adults on Neolithic Grooved Ware Pottery, and on Saturday, May 11th, Susan Hughes is running a portrait drawing workshop – this activity is suitable for adults and children over 13. Both activities cost £7.50 per person and advance booking is essential – contact the museum shop on 01305 756827 for further details and to book.

The exhibition, Encounters, which opened at the museum in February, appeals to a wide audience, both young and old. It contains a range of concepts in a variety of different, and in some cases highly unusual, media.

The members of Wessex Contemporary Arts have worked with the museum's support to present works that are both a response to the collections and a development of their own working practice. The exhibition, runs until June 7th with free entry to the exhibition space.

For further information pick up an exhibition leaflet at the museum shop or visit the website on www.dorset-countymuseum.org.

kids entertained this Spring!

Osprey Leisure

Easter Kid's Club 2013

THIS school holiday Osprey Leisure Centre has programmed the usual variety of popular activities for kids aged 5 -14 years from 2 April through to 12 April on the weekdays but excluding the Bank Holiday.

Amongst the usual mix of activity days Osprey is now offering an indoor football academy on Tuesdays and Thursdays which when added to the half day multi activity sessions on the same day give 2 extra full days from 9am - 4pm which have recently been added to the programme earlier in the year.

Many children love using the inflatable pirate ship obstacle course during private pool parties but have the rare chance to attend the junior sessions for the over 9's which take place on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 2 to 4pm for only £3 per child for a full 2 hours.

What better than to give your children the chance to have a great time in a safe indoor environment whilst expending much energy, being active and having fun this holiday season?

For any further information on the above or the adjacent adverts please feel free to contact the centre on 01305 824378 or visit the centre's website.

ROLL UP FOR FAMILY FUN AT CIRCUS WONDERLAND

CIRCUS Wonderland, UK's newest circus, is coming to Bridport next month and here's your chance to get some free family tickets for what promises to be one of the most original and entertaining shows of its kind.

Askers Meadow is due to play host to Britain's most magical circus during the Easter holidays with shows running from Wednesday April 3rd until Sunday April 7th.

With side splitting comedy and daredevil thrills, Circus Wonderland takes you into a fantasy world of magic and excitement where anything can happen.

Get ready for a Close Encounter with the Duo Stefanelli, who fly through the roof of the Big Top in their glittering spaceship, while the amazing Alejandro will set pulses racing as he swoops and soars above your heads on his death defying trapeze.

Angel Bojilov can juggle and spin plates on sticks, all whilst perching precariously on a tightrope, and Hungarian State Circus star Laci will balance his wife Klaudia at the top of a twenty foot pole, on his head!

The show also features the award winning Popolino Musical Clowns, Kakehole and Popol, who will be arriving with a trunk full of tricks and will be accompanied by their lovable friend Bertie the cartoon Bear Performance times are Weekdays at 3pm and 7pm, Saturday at 2pm and 5pm, and Sunday at 2pm only. Tickets are £9.00 or £7.00 on the first day.

For further information contact the circus Box Office on 07531 612240 or visit their website www.circuswonderland.co.uk.

Winner of BBC Folk Award for best newcomer comes to Marine Theatre

Performance follows second album release and Jools Holland performance

SINCE Sam Carter released his debut album 'Keep-sakes' in 2009, there has been a mounting excitement about this songwriter, guitarist and singer.

At the time he was an Emerging Artist In Residence at The Southbank Centre in London and has since supported Bellowhead on a UK tour, performed in the Middle East and UK with the British Council's 'Shifting Sands' project, played to thousands as part of the all-star line-up for the tour 'The Lady: A Homage To Sandy Denny', performed on major venue and festival stages in his own right and walked away with Horizon Award for best newcomer at the 2010 BBC Radio 2 Folk Awards. And his arrival hasn't gone unnoticed by some of the finest singer-songwriters and guitarists in the world today.

In the three years since 'Keep-sakes' was released he has performed alongside all of the following: Nic Jones, Martin Carthy, Richard Thompson, Chris Wood and Martin Simpson.

Sam released his second album, 'The No Testament', in August 2012, which was soon followed by a performance on 'Later... with Jools Holland'.

Don't miss this chance to catch the talented singer-songwriter when he plays at The Marine Theatre, Lyme Regis, next Thursday, March 28th. Doors open 7.45pm, support starts at 8pm, and Sam will be onstage from 8.50pm.

Tickets cost £12/£11, and a Theatre-Friends discount is available. To book visit www.marinetheatre.com or call 01297 442138.

WIN A COPY OF SAM CARTER'S LATEST ALBUM!

Just answer the following question:

A fantastic sea front location, as made famous by Broadchurch

ELLIPSE is an Italian café bistro, located on the sea front, opposite the new pier, in West Bay, open every day.

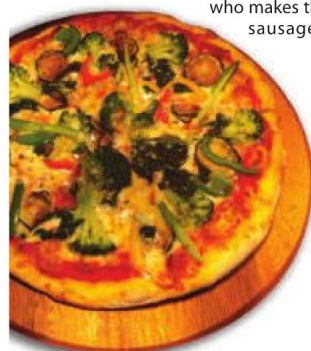

With a stunning panoramic view of Lyme Bay, through glass walls, arching around from the east to the south cliff, sunsets can be truly spectacular, setting over Lyme Bay, flooding the interior with golden light. No other building in West Bay has such truly stunning views.

Internally you will find a relaxing, comfortable, contemporary modern design that mirrors the exterior environment.

“Authentic Italian food, the way it would be cooked in Italy”

Everything on the menu at Ellipse is freshly made by the two new Italian Chefs. All the pizza and bread dough is home made, they bake their own fresh bread and cakes daily, make their own desserts, and cook authentic Italian food, the way it would be cooked in Italy.

All meat is sourced from a local butcher, who makes the sausages,

Fresh, home made pizza, available to eat in or take away and minces the meat on his premises and prepares the beef and chicken by hand to Ellipse's exacting requirements. Every single egg used in the restaurant is free range, and they insist on the freshest fish and seafood available.

There is a wide range of gluten free food available, so you can still enjoy Ellipse's wonderful Italian food, without worrying about your allergy.

Starting on Good Friday, 29th March, the brand new menu will be available, along with longer opening hours for the summer season. A sample of this new menu can be found on the page opposite. Ellipse uses only the best ingredients they can find, and source everything from local suppliers where possible.

The owners of Ellipse would like to take this opportunity to say how very grateful they are for all the local support they receive. Ellipse is very much a part of the community, and is there for the locals first and foremost.

We are not a fast food establishment
We believe in taking time to prepare our fresh ingredients and then cook them in the best way we can to give our customers fresh, tasty and healthy food.
It takes time to cook good food well, therefore at busy times there may be delays in service.

THE BULL HOTEL

Extremely well presented three bedroom house in a peaceful rural setting

SYMONDS & Sampson are delighted to see the return for sale of a property sold by the firm at auction in 2011.

Christopher Cottage, just outside the village of Chardstock needed comprehensive updating and was an extremely popular lot, attracting over 100 viewings and competitive bidding in the auction room. We are delighted to have the opportunity of marketing it again, this time transformed by renovation and extension into an extremely well presented 3 bedroom / 3 bathroom house in a peaceful rural setting. In the original old cottage is a new kitchen / dining room with a utility off. Two generous sized reception rooms enjoy the outlook on the mature garden. Upstairs, the main bedroom is vaulted and displays the charm of original beams and has a smart en suite shower room. There is another double bedroom with en suite and a third double bedroom and family bathroom. Outside the cottage is approached by a gravel drive with ample parking.

A pathway leads through a lawn with mature beds and trees to the old orchard, which is currently carpeted in snowdrops with daffodils to follow. A small stream skirts one side of the boundary. A green lane borders the southern boundary. House, garden and grounds of 0.46 acre. Contact the agents on Axminster 01297 33122 Price Guide £475,000

What is Novahomes and how does it work?

Novahomes was started in 2006 and has estate agents across the west country. Originally the agents worked from offices at home but many of them outgrew this model and moved to having offices.

Although our competitors call us web agents we are not. Typically a web agent takes a fee leaving you to do all the work. We are a traditional estate agent but we use the technology of the web, the mobile and the tablet to promote your home.

How can you charge such low fees?

Estate agency has changed. Buyers now use the internet to search - and the vast majority use either rightmove or zoopla to source property. The days of needing newspaper adverts and large high street shops are gone. These were big ticket items on the overheads and by removing them the client can pay a much lower fee. Just remember if you see an agent with lots of newspaper advertising and a large high street shop you will be paying for the costs of all that! And for what? Buyers use the internet and not the newspaper. Buyers use property portals on their PC, laptop, tablet or mobile and not shop windows.

How does the service compare then?

Novahomes is just like any other estate agent. We visit your home and measure, write up the details, take photographs, and draw the floor plan. We then discuss values and agree a marketing price. Your property is marketed on a number of websites including the two largest property portals which are rightmove.co.uk and zoopla.co.uk because millions of people use these sites each week. In addition we favour the old fashioned method of contacting buyers - hot buyers registered are rung, and then your property will be e-mailed or posted to those who want more information. We organise the viewings and we endeavour to accompany all of them so a key is always helpful. We are more than happy to do these either in the evening or on weekends. Once we have an interested party we negotiate the sale, instruct the solicitors, and assist with any chain or legal matters. For lettings we run the same service and can either find a tenant for you, move them in and process the paperwork with you managing the property yourself or we can manage the tenant for you on an ongoing basis.

Where is the catch - there must be one surely!

No catch. We run a short sole agency period because we want our clients to stay with us because they are happy with the service we provide them. We have a proven track record on sales and letting property and literally hundreds of clients have saved themselves typically half what they would normally pay a high street estate agent. The world has changed and we have simply adapted to the new world of mobile information to make the marketing of your home the best you can get and as cost effectively as possible. We pride ourselves on giving a personal service and being there to help at all stages of the transaction.

Isuzu D-Max scoops Pick-Up of the Year Award

The widely-acclaimed Isuzu D-Max has collected yet another accolade – the prestigious 2013 VansA2Z Pick-Up of the Year Award, announced in London on Thursday.

Launched last June, the D-Max has quickly established itself as a worthy successor to the highly popular Rodeo and has become a big sales hit, elevating the Japanese brand to second place in the UK pick-up sales rankings.

Neil McIntee, editor of VansA2Z.com, said of the D-Max: "There's a seemingly endless supply of torque from the 2.5 litre commonrail diesel engine, a full choice of body styles and trim levels; it's an accomplished mud-plugger, it can match load capabilities with the best, and its external dimensions make it feel nimble to drive. The icing on the cake is the generous five year/125,000-mile warranty."

The judges' full citation is at: <http://vansa2z.com/Vans-of-the-Year-Awards-2013-Pick-Up>

William Brown, Isuzu UK General Manager, commented: "This is a terrific accomplishment for Isuzu in a very competitive market, and demonstrates just how well the D-Max balances its tough and rugged capabilities with exceptional every day refinement. We've worked hard in the UK to ensure the vehicle's strong attributes are matched by its pioneering warranty, impressive standard specifications, low contract hire rates and high residual values. It's very gratifying to see those efforts recognised with this award."

The Isuzu D-Max range includes single, extended (with rear-hinged side access panels) and double cab body configurations. Double cab models are available in four specifications: Isuzu D-Max, Eiger, Yukon and Utah. Prices start at £14,499 (CVOTR) for the entry-level Isuzu D-Max 4x2 single cab and rise to £21,999 (CVOTR) for the top-of-the-range Isuzu D-Max Utah 4x4 double cab automatic.

The Isuzu D-Max is fitted with a completely re-engineered, 2.5-litre twin-turbo diesel engine and is available with a six-speed manual or five-speed automatic transmission. The pick-up is also covered by an industry leading five-year / 125,000-mile warranty.

Isuzu UK continues to present customers with additional great value offers, and recently introduced 'Work' and 'Work Plus' accessory packs, each saving buyers hundreds of pounds on the cost of the individual constituent parts.

New low emission D2 automatic and T2 petrol join the all-new Volvo V40 range

AN EXTENDED offer with further CO₂ reductions are the major driveline news on the model year 2014 Volvo V40s. Buyers of the V40 also have the opportunity to choose the new Sensus Connected Touch system with unique on-line possibilities, including voice-activated Spotify.

Prices for the new engines, automatic option and Sensus Connected Touch will be announced during April and then be available to order immediately.

D2 with improved emissions and transmission options

The V40 D2 and V40 R-Design D2 now benefit from being available to order with an automatic gearbox. CO₂ emissions (EU Combined, preliminary figures) are 102g/km (72.4mpg) in the standard and R-Design versions and 108g/km (68.9mpg) in the V40 Cross Country.

Announced at the Geneva Motorshow, the manual versions of the V40 D2 and V40 D2 R-Design (115hp) now come with reduced CO₂ emissions, down from 94g/km to 88g/km (EU Combined), which translates into a fuel consumption improvement of 4.6mpg, to 83.1mpg. The corresponding figures (preliminary) for the V40 Cross Country with the D2 engine are 99g/km (74.3mpg).

"By continuously cutting CO₂ emissions, we demonstrate our leading position within fuel efficiency improvements," says Doug Speck, Senior Vice President, Marketing, Sales and Customer Service at Volvo Car Group.

New T2 engine with 120hp

Available on the V40 and V40 R-Design, Volvo Cars has added a new variant of the four-cylinder, 1.6-litre engine to the range of direct-injected petrol engines. The Volvo V40 T2 has 120hp and 240 Nm of torque. CO₂ emissions with the manual gearbox are 124g/km (EU Combined, preliminary figures), which translates into fuel consumption of 53.3mpg.

Sensus Connected Touch - connectivity on a new level

The all-new Sensus Connected Touch enables connectivity and Internet in the car and turns the 7-inch display into a state-of-the-art infrared, beam-scanned touch screen

Hyundai Europe on track to meet 2013 goals

- Hyundai market share up to 3.8% in February
- Company looks to stabilise its share at 3.5% this year
- Focus on qualitative enhancements to encourage future growth

HYUNDAI increased its share of the European new car market to 3.8% last month, according to figures released by European motor industrybody, ACEA. Hyundai registrations rose by 1.4% to 31,753 units compared to the same period last year, while the overall market in February fell by 10.2%.

Allan Rushforth, Senior Vice President and COO of Hyundai Motor Europe, commented: "Although we do not anticipate continuous growth this year, we are satisfied with our performance so far in 2013. Our focus is to maintain our 3.5% share of the European market, while working hard on our long term projects to develop our brand image and increase customer loyalty by enhancing the Hyundai experience."

"Achieving these goals will lay firm foundations for future Hyundai growth in Europe from 2014 onwards, by which time we expect the European car market to be showing signs of improvement."

Hyundai has made significant investment to strengthen its European business infrastructure recently - with a view to enhancing the quality of its operations.

The Hyundai plant in Turkey is currently undergoing a €475 million investment to increase its annual capacity from 120,000 to 200,000 cars a year. The company's European headquarters are also undergoing expansion, while a €5.5 million test centre located next to the famous Nürburgring race track in Germany will allow the quality and driving performance of Hyundai's Europe-designed vehicles to be further improved.

Weymouth & Portland National Sailing Academy

WPNSA supporting Olympic legacy hosting Match Racing Series

DURING the winter months Weymouth and Portland National Sailing Academy (WPNSA) have been the host venue for the RYA Winter Match Racing Series running from December through to April.
The competition takes place in the former Olympic class Elliot 6m boats and combines part-training, part-competition with RYA coaches and a full umpire team on hand at each event as part of a programme designed to kick-start the development of UK National Match Racing.

To date, the first three weekends have been a huge success, with a range of weather conditions testing the sailors. Eight teams participate each weekend with the highest placed skipper of each qualifier event earning their place to attend the RYA Winter Match Racing Final weekend on April 20th/21st.

The idea of the series is to provide a transition from dinghy sailing into keelboat sailing and then potentially onto the British Keelboat Academy.
WPNSA prides itself on hosting the 2012 Olympic Games but also recognises the need for sustained development within the sport.
John Tweed, Chief Executive WPNSA explained: "The Games were not a one off, but a springboard to ensure there is a continuing and lasting legacy in Dorset and the United Kingdom. We hope to inspire young and old in the 'afterglow' of very successful Olympic and Paralympic sailing events, and the RYA Match Racing Series is showcasing some real potential talent for the future.

"Sailors approach the weekends with huge determination to learn and compete at the highest level. Ultimately, a new foundation for Match Racing is being developed with experts following the racing and giving top tips at key moments, followed by intensive debriefs lead by the umpires and an emphasis on constructive collaboration between teams.

Sir Ben Ainslie CBE who is no stranger to WPNSA waters also spent a part of his career match racing and this summer will be competing in the Americas Cup in the waters of San Francisco.
He said: "Match racing is one of the most tactical and intense forms of racing, whatever boat you sail in and is something every sailor should experience and train in. This racing discipline offers new styles of boat on boat tactics which can assist in a number of fleet racing situations. I am always keen to see match racing being developed at a national level and am delighted that the WPNSA is hosting the Royal Yachting Association Match Racing Series this year. WPNSA will ultimately play a key role in producing some future match racing stars and equally will let everyone get involved in such an exciting part of the sport of sailing".

This weekend see's previously competing University team's return, with the final event of the series promising to be a highly contested event between some of Britain's future.

SAILING

The story behind the medals

AS the Olympic and Paralympic Games venue for sailing, the Weymouth and Portland National Sailing Academy in Dorset has experienced a unique and unforgettable few years in the run up to and during the London 2012 Olympic Games.

Now that the games are over and the Olympic legacy is in full swing, there is time to look back and reflect on the pre games training and preparation that enabled our British Olympians to compete on a global level.

With fantastic results achieved in 2012 and an impressive collection of gold medals being won and presented to the world's top sailors at the iconic waterside venue, it is easy to be swept along in the celebrations and forget the hard work and pure dedication that went into preparing not only the venue, but the competitors themselves for the greatest show on earth.

The celebrated sailing destination began creating Olympic champions years before the words Beijing and London Olympics had been uttered.

Developed to take advantage of some of the best small boat sailing waters on the planet, the WPNSA has provided an unrivalled location for training and sailing competitions for a great number of years.

The combination of clean winds, sheltered waters and weak tides in the area is unique, and the world class facility set in the centre of the Jurassic Coast provided the perfect training venue in the run up to the Olympic Games.

The success of the WPNSA began early when it became the first 2012 venue to be completed in November 2008, with three years to spare, and it played a crucial part in the overall success of the London Olympics 2012, and the number of medals Team GBR won.

Team GBR finally won a total of five Olympic (one gold, four silver), and two Paralympic (one gold and one bronze) sailing medals; the impressive medal haul illustrating how the preparation of the sailors at the academy had been essential to their final results.

However, the academy had been preparing Olympic sailors for many years prior to the Olympics, having had the honour of witnessing and nurturing the emerging talent of young British sailors as they undertook their training schedules and entered into the competitive, and then professional sailing world.

One such young sailor was the now Sir Ben Ainslie CBE, the most successful sailor in Olympic history. Ainslie began sailing in the waters of his native Cornwall at a very young age and would later be a frequent visitor to the WPNSA, undertaking his Olympic training at the now iconic venue.

He paid his compliments to the Academy in saying: "WPNSA is home to some of the best sailing waters in the world and there is tough competition to gain this status.

high profile

The highest profile sailors in the world have competed at the venue which itself has showcased one of the most watched global events.

"I have sailed on these waters since I was racing youth classes and the WPNSA is a great improvement upon the facilities I used back then.

"The new generation getting out on the water have a very bright future and a first rate sports venue readily available to them that represents such a great opportunity.

"I have no doubt the venue will go on to host a raft of quality sailing events as it is now firmly on the map as a premiere location to compete.

"Personally I will never forget winning my Olympic Gold medal in front of a home crowd and on waters so familiar to me."

Now also a member of the board of directors for the WPNSA, Ainslie will continue to play a role at the centre which supported him throughout his sailing career and Olympic campaigns.

Ainslie is not the only Gold medallist to sing the praises of WPNSA.

Paralympic Gold Medallist Helena Lucas MBE also trained from the Academy for a number of years before and during her Olympic campaign. Lucas won gold in 2012 in the 2.4mR event.

She said: "Winning gold on home waters in Weymouth and Portland was an amazing experience; the home support is something I will never forget and it spurred me on tremendously.

"Training and competing at WPNSA throughout my preparation certainly contributed to my result and I will always love sailing here.

"It is an unbeatable venue for disabled sailors with new, purpose built, facilities.

"For example, there are disabled access hoists on the pontoons, providing the safest access to tidal waters for people with disabilities anywhere in the UK.

"I don't know of any other sailing venue where the needs of sailors of all abilities are so well catered for."

However, it was not only Team GB who performed outstandingly during the sailing Olympics and Paralympics, with competitors from across the globe winning medals in British waters.

A key to the success was the ability for them to access and train in the Olympic waters before the games began; reaping the benefits of this fantastic advantage.

The academy was the first Olympic sailing venue to open to international competitors prior to the games since Kiel in 1972, and by operating in such a way this created a level playing field for competitors, with the final sailing competition higher than ever.

Sailors from Italy, USA, Canada, Australia, Spain, Sweden, Holland, Argentina, Denmark and Russia trained at the academy pre the games, and having these teams on site, some of which were for a number of years; brought a great international feel to the area.

The WPNSA played a truly essential part in training and assisting all Olympic and Paralympic sailors in both the 2012 Games and in the years leading up to the event; without its excellent facilities Team GBR may not have achieved such admirable results.

Osprey Leisure Centre hosts youth cricket Celebration Day

A FESTIVAL of Cricket marked the culmination of the indoor cricket season at the Osprey Centre, Portland as players from all the participating clubs celebrated a successful campaign.

The day began with the players dividing into two teams to play an indoor 20/20.

Lovett's Leggy's batting first, showed some fine form with excellent stroke play and running as they accumulated 163-6 in their innings.

Strongbow's Sloggers set about the run chase with gusto and punished anything short of a length as the runs quickly mounted.

The Leggy's fought back with a succession of quick wickets, but could not prevent the Sloggers passing the required total with 4.2 overs remaining.

A ten over slog fest followed with Joe's Juggernauts amassing a respectable 104-5.

Jack's Jokers passed the total with eight balls remaining in a contest that highlighted all that is good in youth cricket.

Medals and trophies were presented by Osprey Manager Nigel Williams to each of the leagues winners and runners-up.

Mr Williams was full of praise for all the players, he said: "Osprey have been proud to host the indoor season.

enjoyment

"It was great to see so many youngsters, not only participating, but enjoying playing competitive cricket and filling the gap between the outdoor seasons.

"Thanks must be given to Grant Nevan and Aaron Riley for organising the league on behalf of the kids, especially as so many parents asked if the league would be sponsored next year to which the answer was a resounding yes!"

CRICKET

Magical trip for Portland's Neven

HAVING just returned from a trip to Uganda as part of Cricket Without Boundaries, Portland cricketer and Dorset coach Grant Neven used a quote from Nelson Mandela to sum up his thoughts: "Sport has the power to change the world."

"It has the power to unite in a way that little else does. It speaks to youth in a language that they understand. Sport can create hope where there once was only despair.

"It's more powerful than governments in breaking down racial barriers. It laughs in the face of all types of discrimination."

These were his thoughts in his own words: "Never was a truer word spoken than Mandela's quote, and the trip has left me with so many memories that will stay with me the rest of my life.

"When first asked what the trip was all about, I tried to explain the CWB mission and the difference that a small group could make to Aids/HIV awareness through coaching and playing cricket.

"Some cynics replied 'Oh I see, a free trip and a bit of cricket'. If only they knew.

"The first big challenge was getting to know the group, a group whose ages ranged from 68 to 19 and whose members came from all walks of life.

"I was very fortunate in that the group jelled from the start and throughout the trip, mucked in, laughed and cried together and rose to the many challenges that presented themselves.

"Lifelong friendships have been formed and many in the group plan to meet up on a regular basis.

"Uganda itself proved to be everything I expected and more. The people were amazing, friendly and full of hope, even if their time keeping was set to the Ugandan ethos of 'once we get there, it will all be done'.

"The country itself was beautiful and yet as mad as a fish. "Extreme poverty, a fragmented infrastructure and roads that daily tested the strength of your spine took nothing away from a country that had pride in itself and wished to progress.

"As a group we were based in three centres during the trip; Kampala, Jinja and finally Masaka.

natural ability

"Each centre provided us the opportunity to train up teachers to teach cricket and pass on the Aids/HIV awareness message for years to come, and they all proved to be willing pupils with a thirst for knowledge and experience.

"The children themselves were a joy, not just to teach and play cricket with, but all were so enthusiastic and willing to learn.

■ UPLIFTING: Excited children run towards the camera

"At times their natural ability was awesome and all was achieved with a huge smile and continual thanks to me and my fellow coaches.

"Of course we had some free time and this was not wasted.

"We visited orphanages and Aids clinics in each centre, where we spent time with the staff and children learning about the battle that counties like Uganda face in their fight to obtain medicines and support.

"To sum up, time well spent, knowledge gained and passed on, new friendships formed and a sense that our efforts as a team will help to combat the spread of HIV/AIDS, help to promote education through sport and leave a lasting legacy for the future.

"Finally I would encourage all to have a look at the work done and achieved by CWB; its hard working, challenging but rewarding.

"Could you be the next volunteer? I for one will be returning; the job has only just begun."

Nichols return a big boost for Magpies

THE return of teenage striker Tom Nichols has boosted Dorchester Town's attempt at a Blue Square South play-off place.

Manager Phil Simkin couldn't hide his delight after he received a call from Exeter City's Director of Football Steve Perryman on Friday lunchtime to say the 19-year-old was available.

"I have been trying to get Tom back on loan for a while. He's a great little player and did well the last time he was with us; he's got good pace and wonderful movement off the ball, so I was obviously delighted to get the call from Steve asking if we were interested in taking him on loan."

"Our secretary Dave Martin and the people at Exeter then worked miracles in the afternoon to get him signed three minutes before the deadline at five o'clock in order to play against AFC Hornchurch on Saturday."

However everybody's efforts were in vain when heavy overnight rain caused the postponement of the match.

"He's a really nice lad who settled in well here and was very popular both in the changing room and with the supporters, and I am really pleased he is back."

Nichols, who spent three months on loan at The Avenue last season, return will help alleviate some of the problems Simkin has been having up front where new signing Kieffer Moore's injury, inflicted by Truro's manager Lee Hodges he returned to with the Magpies to Treyew Road a month ago, is slow to heal.

Having him here gives Kieffer a chance to get back to full fitness. He's improving and getting treatment at Exeter with some ultrasound and he's not that far away.

"However, we have to make sure he is right before he gets out on the pitch again; his game is about pace and power and he's not doing us or himself any favours by coming back when he's not ready."

Simkin was hoping to pair Nichols with Ben Watson who has now recovered from the calf strain that has been bothering him all season, in Tuesday game at Weston-super-Mare.

"Ben's injury is just because of over use. He has not had the chance to let it heal fully because of the shortage of players, and like Kieffer he needs to rest it a bit. Hopefully with Tom available we can rotate it."

The latest postponements, last Tuesday's home game against Farnborough was called off because part of the pitch was frozen, has not helped Simkin's other problematic situation; the centre of defence.

All three central defenders; Charlie Clough, Aaran Pugh and Nathan Walker; all have suspensions hanging over them, and the latest postponements has put a bigger strain on Simkin's resources with two of them, and in the case of the Hayes & Yeading match on Saturday, all three missing, over the next three games.

However the county town boss is happy that he has enough cover.

"Mark Jermyn can deputise as he did last season, whilst we have Steve Walker and Calvin Brooks in reserve. Steve is a similar player to his brother, and whilst Calvin hasn't got a lot of experience, he is a good athlete and player."

Simkin has already had to call upon Danny Way and Josh Tennant to make the step up to senior level this season and he has no qualms about doing so with Brooks if he needs to.

"We are very lucky to have such good, young players coming through the ranks, which is what it is all about with a club like Dorchester where we don't have a lot of money."

"We have seen what both Danny and Josh can do, and they both did admirable jobs, I don't have a problem in asking them to step in again, and I know Calvin will be the same."

With Jamie Symes having returned from his two month loan spell at Bridport, Simkin has another player with first team experience to call upon.
